O'Brien to Be Replaced by Watson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has moved quickly to replace Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, first Cabinet casualty of his "lame duck" administration, while making official the expected appointment of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams as U.S. commander in Vietnam.

The President told White House newsmen Wednesday he had accepted O'Brien's resignation and had nominated W. Marvin Watson, now presidential appointments secretary, to fill the Cabinet post.

In addition to naming Abrams, 53, to take over for Gen. William C. Westmoreland when he becomes Army chief of staff in July, Johnson picked Adm. John S. McCain, 57, now commander of U.S. naval forces in Europe, to succeed retiring Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp as commander in chief, Pacific.

The military reshuffle also involved Johnson's naming of Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, now commander of the National War College in Washington and staff secretary to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, to succeed Abrams as deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam.

Johnson, who has said he won't seek or accept nomination for another term, took note of his "lame duck" status in announcing O'Brien's resignation. He said that when the postmaster general spoke to him earlier in the day about resigning, he told O'Brien "that since I was not going to be a candidate for re-election, I realize the Cabinet had made many sacrifices... and that now was the time for any of them to make decisions concerning their families and their future."

The President wouldn't discuss O'Brien's future plans but aides of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said the postmaster general would soon join the New Yorker's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Johnson's choice of Watson, 43, as O'Brien's successor drew favorable comment from members of the Senate, which must confirm the nomination. O'Brien issued a statement saying he was pleased with the choice of Watson, a native of Oakhurst, Tex., who has served as White House appointments secretary for two years.

Before joining Johnson's staff, Watson was an executive with a Texas steel firm and active in Lone Star State politics, serving as chairman of the Texas State Democratic Executive Committee in 1964.

O'Brien, 51, named postmaster general in 1965, directed Johnson's 1964 presidential campaign. He had served as congressional liaison for President John F. Kennedy and played a major strategy role in Kennedy's 1960 campaign.

Johnson said the appointments of Gens. Abrams and Goodpastor and Adm. McCain were recommended by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford. Abrams' appointment had been expected since Johnson announced that Westmoreland would become Army chief of staff, succeeding Gen. Harold K. Johnson, slated to retire July 2.

KXAR Plans to Salute Local Seniors

Starting Monday, April 15th and continuing until May 23rd KXAR Radio will salute graduating seniors through the day every day. School offices have prepared information sheets on all graduating seniors in Blevins, Hope, Saratoga, Spring Hill and Yergers listing honors, awards, offices held and other information about the graduate.

The idea was conceived by KXAR Manager, Haskell Jones, who then convinced Pepper Sound Studios it would be a good idea for their nationwide library. Jones wrote the jingles and Pepper studio writers composed the music.

Every senior will be saluted about three times during the period since there are 279 in all and it will require the six weeks to read all their credits. Your seniors name may come up at any time since the salutes are mixed and varied. There will be about twelve senior salutes each day on KXAR.

Temperatures Mild Through Friday

Fair skies and mild temperatures are forecast for Arkansas through Friday.

There is a possibility that a few scattered showers and light thundershowers will precede a cold front into the state Saturday morning.

Temperatures in the 80s will be common in the south half of the state Friday while temperatures in the upper 70s are expected in the northern half. Overnight lows will remain in the 40s and 50s.

High temperatures Wednesday ranged from 80 at Fort Smith to 73 at Harrison. Overnight lows ranged from 34 at Calico Rock and Gilbert to 51 at Newport.

There was no rainfall reported for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

To Revamp Tests for State Jobs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The director of the state Merit System Council said Wednesday that he was re-evaluating questions on job tests for state jobs whether they discriminate against Negroes.

John L. Hogue also said he wanted the council board to hire a Negro to sit on the oral test board, where applicants for some jobs are tested. He said all applicants take written tests.

The MSC director said the council screened jobs that ranged from filing clerks to microbiologists and that required varying degrees of education and skills. He said classification and compensation varied with different jobs.

State agencies that rely on the council to screen applicants include: the Welfare and Health Department, Employment Security Division, Disability Division of the Social Security Administration, Cancer Commission, Mental Health Division of the State Hospital, state Office of Civil Defense and the Health Planning Division.

Terrorists, Viet Cong Same, Say Whites in Africa Fighting Reds

By KENNETH L. WHITTING Associated Press Writer
KAROI, Rhodesia (AP) — The Zambezi River is our demilitarized zone," said the sun-bronzed farmer, sipping a noon-time beer.

"We are fighting communism here just like the allies in Vietnam," he pointed toward the main road through this prosperous tobacco and corn town. "These terrorists are the same as Viet Cong."

Fighting in the Zambezi Valley between African guerrillas and white soldiers and police is part of the confrontation in southern Africa.

The armed frontier between white and black looms across the continent from Portuguese Angola's Atlantic coast, down to the Zambezi and across northern Mozambique to the Indian Ocean. Fighting has been fluid and desultory, but the tempo of hostilities is rising.

Black guerrillas have been fighting almost eight years in Angola and about four years in Mozambique. They don't have victory in sight, but are taxing Lisbon heavily in men and money.

The confrontation across the Zambezi between Zambia and Rhodesia is newer and potentially more serious. There are signs that this clash is entangled with global East-West power politics.

Rhodesia is a breakaway British territory almost as large as California, populated by some 230,000 whites and more than four million Africans. Infiltrators can choose more than 500 miles of frontier to enter Rhodesia from Zambia.

The white farmer in Karoi who equates African "freedom fighters" with the Viet Cong knows that guerrillas captured recently were armed with Russian explosives, Czech grenades and Chinese rifles and bazookas. He is aware that they probably were drilled in Tanzania by Chinese or Soviet experts.

Because of trade ties, cultural links, investment policy and traditional arms supplies, the white-ruled south of Africa is identified with the West. Nationalist movements are increasingly being trained, armed and financed by Communist powers. Black nationalist spokesmen in Zambia and Tanzania say they are willing to accept aid from anywhere to help end white rule on the southern tip of Africa.

Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley lifted the curfew for minors which was set Saturday and said the 11,900 federal troops and guardsmen may begin withdrawing from the city soon.

The decision, he said, will be made by "the superintendent of police and the military. I don't think we should put any time limit on it." Eleven persons were killed and some 500 injured during the two days of a dusk to dawn curfew was lifted in Pittsburgh but 4,473 guardsmen remained in the city with no immediate indication of when they would be withdrawn.

Authorities said there were 35 arrests and 41 fires reported during the day bringing the totals to 1,265 arrests and 515 fires since the trouble started.

Economy Act Cost U.S. $1 Billion

By JOSEPH R. COYNE Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's chief tax collector says spending restrictions imposed by Congress on the Internal Revenue Service—all in the name of economy—actually cost the government about $1 billion a year.

Sheldon S. Cohen, commissioner of Internal revenue, said cuts by Congress in the number of new jobs requested by his agency over the last five years are responsible for the loss in uncollected taxes.

As a rough rule of thumb, Cohen said in an interview, every $1 cut from the Internal Revenue Service personnel budget means $10 in lost taxes because of the inability of the service to take on additional audits.

The House earlier this week approved an appropriation bill which permits IRS to hire about 1,000 fewer persons than it requested for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

Cohen said last year's congressional economy drive cost the Treasury Department between $50 million and $100 million in lost revenues and at one point IRS had 2,000 job vacancies because of cuts in its budget.

It normally employs about 60,000 persons, including 13,000 field agents.

McMath May Be a Candidate

The U.S. Command said 93 American troops were killed during the 76-day siege of Khe Sanh and 400 wounded troops were evacuated from the Marine combat base just below the demilitarized zone. The announcement did not give the number of wounded who did not have to be evacuated.

Meanwhile, the lull in the ground war continued, with no significant contact reported yet in the biggest allied offensive of the war, the sweep by 100,000 troops looking for an estimated 18,000-20,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the 11 provinces around Saigon. The operation, named Complete Victory, is now in its fourth day.

U.S. officers blamed the enemy's reluctance to do battle on his losses during the lunar new year offensive.

"It appears they aren't ready to fight," said a U.S. spokesman. "With their supplies dependent on hand-carrying things, bicycles and sampans, they've probably used what supplies they had stockpiled. They lost over 47,000 men in the Tet offensive. After losses like that, you don't go into action in quite some time."

"They apparently have fallen back to regroup, to get replacements. Now is the time to go get them, now that they are hurting. We've got to maintain the pressure on them."

Khe Sanh was quiet for the second day Wednesday as North Vietnamese gunners fired not a single round of artillery, mortar or rockets into the combat base. And the 20,000-man allied push to root out North Vietnamese still in the area reported little significant contact.

Sixteen miles east of Khe Sanh, two U.S. Marine helicopters collided in the air near Camp Carroll. Twelve Americans were killed and both helicopters were destroyed, headquarters said, adding that the crash was caused by operational failure, not enemy action.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! this newspaper.

KISS AND TELL — IF SHE WEARS BRACES OR NOT

Dear Helen: I just recently got fitted to braces for my teeth. They hardly show, because of my smile, and they don't hurt my popularity. I'm not telling anyone about my hardware mouth. Might get teased.

My question is, will a boy know I wear braces when he kisses me? BRACED AND READY

Dear B and R: Probably. More to the point, YOU'LL know you're wearing braces when he kisses you, unless you tell him. Lips that hide hardware can't stand much pressure.

And what's with the secrecy? If your family lays out some $1500 for braces, the least you can do is grin and bare 'em!

—H. Dear Helen: I have an identical twin sister. Sometimes we get each other out of jams. Like last night, she wanted to go out with a new guy, but had a date with another boy. So I stood in for her.

Everything went fine, until he said he was taking me home. When he went out of the way, I knew we weren't. He parked, and next thing I knew he was Romeo the Second. Wow! I couldn't convince him I wasn't playing games until I slapped him across the face. Then he roared home without speaking and didn't even take me to the door. Just mumbled something about how I'd changed.

He hasn't called my sister since, but she doesn't mind because she doesn't like him. What worries me is, if boys she doesn't even like expect this of her, she's headed for big trouble. Should I have a talk with Mom?—AFRAID FOR SE

Dear A for S: Your letter—even after I edited some sense into it—still sounds unbelievable, but just in case you aren't putting me on, here's my advice:

Have a talk with "Sis" first. If you twins are close enough to exchange dates, you are close enough to hash over problems. Sisterly advice and concern often straightens a girl out faster than a big lecture from above.—H.

Dear Helen: Do you think a mother should be at home with her child on the child's birthday?

More than once my Mom has been away for mine. Sure, she leaves presents behind, but it's not much fun opening them by yourself.

She doesn't have to be away—it's just for pleasure. Once when I was younger, she called me on my birthday, and I started crying. So now she doesn't call any more.

When she's home, I used to kiss her good-night, but it annoyed her, so I stopped. We hardly ever do things together. It's lonely here.

Now I've turned to my girl friend's mother because I can talk things over with her and feel sort of like a daughter. She helps ease the pain, except it's probably just silly self-pity. Am I being disloyal?—NOT SO SAD ANY MORE

Dear Not Sad: No, you're not disloyal. A mother who won't take time for her daughter deserves a daughter who looks for a mother elsewhere. I'm so very glad you found one!

I hope your letter hits your mother where she lives—wherever that is.—H.

'Heat of the Night' Takes Five Oscars

By GENE HANDSAKER Associated Press Writer SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — "In the Heat of the Night" won five Oscars, including best picture acclaim and best actor honors for Rod Steiger, at the 40th Academy Awards ceremony.

Katharine Hepburn, 58, was named 1967's best motion picture actress as a perplexed mother whose daughter plans to marry a Negro in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

The accolades of movieland were scattered, and there were a few surprises Wednesday night. Considered hotter contenders than Hepburn were Faye Dunaway of the explosive "Bonnie and Clyde" and Anne Bancroft, the neurotic who seduces a youth half her age in "The Graduate."

Steiger was acclaimed by Sidney Pollier, the boyfriend taken home to "Dinner" and the Negro costar of Steiger in "Heat" this way: "He's probably the greatest actor in the world."

In accepting his award, Steiger thanked Pollier for giving him understanding of racial prejudice. Both "In the Heat of the Night" and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" dealt with the racial problem.

Mike Nichols, 37, nominated a year ago for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" won this time among directors for his second film, "The Graduate."

Supporting honors went to George Kennedy, the chain gang convict of "Cool Hand Luke" and to Broadway's Estelle Parsons in "Bonnie and Clyde," her second movie and first important film role.

Fulbright Frowns on Offensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate Foreign Relations Committee members say a major new allied offensive in South Vietnam threatens chances for peace talks with Hanoi.

The criticism was leveled by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., after a closed committee session Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"The reports of a major new offensive called 'Operation Total Victory' seem to be not quite consistent with a posture seeking talks to de-escalate," said Fulbright.

Symington said: "The action seems strange at a time when it is stated that our primary aim is to achieve a meaningful peace."

The drive by about 100,000 allied troops, billed by the U.S. Command as the biggest operation of the war, is intended to clear the area surrounding Saigon of some 18,000 to 20,000 enemy troops.

Rusk called it a normal operation and said Hanoi meanwhile is showing no signs it is willing to restrain military action in return for a total bombing halt over North Vietnam, as demanded by President Johnson.

one people or we move toward a police state."

Johnson hailed passage of the bill but also urged Congress to enact the rest of his program, including housing and job programs.

After King's slaying, the President said he would address Congress to outline an expanded social program. But he postponed a scheduled appearance last Monday and has not set a new date.

The President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, which recommended a massive social program aimed at eradicating slum problems, scheduled an emergency session.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, commission vice chairman, said it's too late to help the people killed and wounded in the week of rioting but added: "It is not too late, however, for the nation to move against this crisis with the urgency and enterprise that the commission sought to generate."

Lindsay didn't specify when the meeting would be held, nor did he say what further moves would be made to win acceptance for its recommendations. But he said that as a beginning, the Senate should restore funds for summer programs in slums.

The Senate moved in that direction Wednesday, rejecting a money bill from which the House had stripped $75 million for the job program and $25 million for the Head Start preschool program.

Joining in praise for the open-housing measure and in the call for more congressional action on job and housing programs were George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, Don Schary, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Now you find yourself slapping the growing hands that once looked like pale flower petals but have developed the ability to clench into fists. Now and then the chubby bottom that used to seem so adorable must be spanked. And occasionally, if mother isn't looking, a vexed father may succumb to the temptation of booting his small son and heir in the bottom with the side of his foot, as if he were a soccer ball, and lifting him a couple of feet farther along the rug.

From the time the kids enter kindergarten until they emerge from college, parenthood, although it is cheered by many happy moments, consists of a deepening slavery and a continual self-questioning:

"What have I done wrong? Am I failing my children? Could I do more? Nothing I do for them seems to be quite right."

Now and then parents get weary of making sacrifices taken for granted by their offspring. "I'll be glad when they're finally grown up and married off," each tells the other. "Then our worries will be over."

Second White Car Involved in Slaying

By JAY BOWLES Associated Press Writer MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The presence of a second white Mustang near the doorway which police say the slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. used to escape gave rise today to published reports that it may have been the getaway car.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal said the car with Arkansas tags and a similar vehicle, parked a short distance north, both left the scene within 15 minutes after King was fatally shot a week ago today.

Both vehicles were within 100 feet of the doorway to the second-floor rooming house where police said the assassin waited and shot King as he stood on the balcony of a motel across a rear street.

The killer was believed to have walked out of the Main Street entrance to the rooming house, turned south and dropped the murder weapon in front of a business firm next door.

Guy Cantpe, owner of the firm, said he saw the young white man drop the package which contained the gun, but did not see his face.

The Commercial Appeal speculated that the man then walked a few steps farther along, got into the dirty white Mustang with Arkansas tags and sped away.

The second Mustang, parked north of the rooming house entrance, also left the scene near the time of the shooting.

Police said they would investigate reports that a supposed police chase in northeast Memphis — eight miles from the scene — 30 minutes after the shooting may have been a decoy to allow the killer to escape.

A recording of the police radio dispatchers' transmissions showed seven calls in 12 minutes from a lieutenant's car in the northeast section of the city detailing the case.

The lieutenant said Tuesday he did not make the calls. This led to speculation that someone other than police may have sent the calls on the police frequency to draw officers away from the escape route.

Santo Tomas de Aquinas, built in 1538, was the first university in the Americas. It is in the Dominican Republic.

discovered they would have to have college sponsorship to enter a talent show at a state fair in nearby Tulsa, Okla.

"We were glad to sponsor them, and we took them to Tulsa in school cars," said Jim Sheets, John Brown's public information officer. "But we didn't know then what we had."

Competing against 200 other acts, the "Sounds," as they are called on campus, walked off with first place.

Since then the university has picked up expenses of their trips. Part of the cost of underwritten by fees paid by organizations which sponsor appearances, but the Sounds are not making money for John Brown and probably won't.

The message they carry, Sheets said, makes the expense worthwhile.

So worthwhile that when Hartman was graduated in January, the university hired him on its public relations staff so he could continue his work with the Sounds.

"We try to communicate, first of all, our love for God and what he has done for us and for our country," Coates said.

Coates said hippies are "misguided publicity seekers." "If they want to help America, they're certainly off base," he said.

said.

The Sounds have branched out and they now sing for conventions, civic clubs and business organizations, but their main desire remains to reach the high schooler.

"We try to get on their level, to get their attention," Coates said. "When you have them with you, they're willing to listen to you."

The singers stay around, after a concert, Coates said, to talk with teen-agers.

The group has male vocalists, female vocalists, a "folk" section with guitars and bass, and a brass section.

Its offerings are varied but the emphasis is always positive — on religion, patriotism, the good life.

Coates first named the group "Cortain Sounds," but he picked "The Sound Generation" after he learned that the first name had been pre-empted by a California group.

The Sound Generation has evolved into a 20-member group and its members come from 16 states.

Hartman sees the group as a kind of antidote for the "upbeat" generation.

"Few of the 'upbeat' generation really seem to care about what happens to themselves or their country," he wrote in a publicity release for the Sounds. "It would be almost impossible to find in the same place five or ten youths who care."

NL Champs Start Out Winning

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Aspromonte is an original Astro—the only player still left from the expansion pool that stocked Houston's National League team back in November, 1961.

He's lived through 568 losses in six seasons and he just wasn't prepared to start the new season with another setback. So, he did something about it. It was Astro's two-out triple in the bottom of the ninth inning that gave the Astros a 5-4 opening night victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

Elsewhere as the National League started its 93rd season, St. Louis' world champions pulled out a 2-1 victory over Atlanta, San Francisco pushed across three ninth inning runs and beat New York 5-4, Cincinnati battered Chicago 9-4 and Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

In the American League, New York shut out California 1-0, Boston whipped Detroit 7-3, Minnesota blanked Washington 2-0, Cleveland battered Chicago 9-0, and Baltimore stopped Oakland 3-1.

Aspromonte, who's been with Houston so long he predates the Astrodome and goes back to the days when the Astros were called the Colts, climaxed a three-run rally in the ninth with his triple.

Maury Wills' two-run single had moved Pittsburgh into a 4-2 lead in the top of the ninth.

Pat Jarvis had St. Louis shut out for seven innings but the Cards pulled out their opener with single runs in the eighth and ninth innings against the Braves.

Chris Short pitched a four-hitter with 10 strikeouts and rookie Don Money drove in both Philadelphia runs as the Phillies blanked the Dodgers.

Jesus Alou drove in San Francisco's winning runs with a ninth inning double that climaxed a three-run rally against the Mets. Ron Swoboda drove in all four New York runs with a single and a homer.

Tony Perez smacked a three-run homer and Tommy Helms had a two-run shot as Cincinnati battered Chicago. Perez' shot keyed a five-run Reds' rally in the fifth inning and Helms' homer wrapped it up in the eighth.

Minnesota, Dallas Are Good Hosts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Because Minnesota and Dallas played the perfect hosts, Pittsburgh and New Orleans held 2-1 leads today in their best-of-7 American Basketball Association semifinal playoff series.

Pittsburgh took a one-game lead in the Eastern Division playoffs by defeating the Muskies Wednesday night at Minnesota 107-99. The Pipers pulled away in the closing minutes.

Dallas had a 15-game winning streak at home but New Orleans came from behind in the final three minutes to edge the Charrals 110-107 in the Southern Methodist University Coliseum. That put the Bucs one game up in the Western Division playoffs with game No. 4 set for tonight in New Orleans.

They Call It a Game of Chance

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Call it a game of Chance. Minnesota ace Dean Chance gives luck a little pat for his superb pitching performance in shutting out Washington 2-0 on four hits in baseball's annual inaugural game Wednesday.

It was satisfying start for the Twins and Chance, who had to wait six months to win another game after blowing the American League pennant to Boston on the final day of the 1967 season. The big right-hander credits the difference between the two games to Lady Luck.

"This was just one of those days when Lady Luck was with me," he said. "It's funny. On the last game of last year I was ready and geared to go and I lost."

"Here it is the first game of the year and who knows what kind of shape I'm in, and I win."

The happy-go-lucky hurler, taking over after Twins' fan Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey tossed out the traditional first ball, held the Senators to a mere bunt single for the first seven innings.

He retired the first nine batters before rookie Del Unser beat out the dribbler, then cut down 12 more in a row before nipped for two sharp singles as he fired in the eighth. Chance wound up with eight strikeouts and didn't walk a man.

Rifle-carrying troops patrolled outside D. C. Stadium during the game as a reminder of a weekend of racial violence in the nation's capital. But the crowd of 32,063—smallest in seven years—was peaceful. So were the Senators.

Golf in Full Bloom

The Masters means it's a time to relish again the azaleas and dogwoods in full bloom at Augusta, Ga., and even if you can't be there, Cliff Roberts, the major domo of golfing's biggest social event, has arranged a special treat for the home viewer—his concentration is now disturbed by only 11 commercials. . . . It used to be 18 for 2½ hours of weekend telecasting a couple of years ago. . . .

The ultimate sacrifice—a divot taken at the Augusta National course will not heal properly until the following summer, because of the Bermuda grass fairways. . . .

A victory in the Masters is supposed to set a golfer up for the rest of the year. But Gay Brewer, the '67 winner, wasn't so sure of that for awhile. In the 13 weeks following the Augusta classic, Gay's highest achievement on the tournament trail was a pair of ties for 13th place. He made it all up, though, when he skipped over to England and grabbed a $55,000 first prize in the unofficial Mean Golfer of the Year joust. . . .

Political note—Tom Gola, the old pro basketball player turned legislator, is squirming because Richard Nixon has the Republican nomination all to himself so far. Tom, a Pennsylvania state congressman, broke a 10-year Democratic stranglehold on his Philly district. Now he's up for re-election and figures that Nixon on the top of the ticket, instead of Rockefeller, will have him looking for another job. . . .

It's true that Elvin Hayes got $5,000 from the San Diego Rockets before he signed his contract to play with the NBA expansion club. But it's not true that he got the money while he still had eligibility left at Houston. The Rockets forwarded that amount to the "Big E" when he was about to come out to San Diego to talk contract with them. They must get used to extravagant travel advances around Houston. . . .

On the money subject, Wilt Chamberlain will raise hell if a guy welsches on a $5 friendly bet. But he dropped a quick grand in a friendly blackjack game on a 76er trip the other day and didn't bat an eyelash. The winner was a Philly playground director. . . .

The major league cut in the travel roster from 28 to 25 when the teams go into the first part of the season means more than a paucity of playing talent to someone like Eddie Stanky of the White Sox. In the old days with the Dodgers, he noted, the club would carry a dozen pitchers at least, and Leo Durocher had them around "so they could help out in fights."

Credit Larry Zeidel, the combative defense man, with good marketing sense. After 14 straight seasons in the hockey minors, he prepared a brochure trying to peddle his services to the National League. And the Philly Flyers bought his sales pitch. . . .

Bench Helps 76ers Beat the Celtics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Philadelphia 76ers are considered to have the best starting five in the National Basketball Association. But their bench strength was the big question if the 76ers were to win a second straight championship.

So what happened Wednesday night? The bench, Matt Guokas, Billy Melchioni and Johnny Green, helped spark the 76ers to a 116-105 victory over the Boston Celtics at Boston to even the best-of-7 Eastern Division final playoff series at 1-1.

In Los Angeles, the Lakers came up with a big fourth quarter to down San Francisco 115-112 and take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Western Division final.

Nicklaus Favored in Masters

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Billy Casper, one of the world's great golfers but a long-time also-ran at Augusta, set out today with his confidence bubbling, his game in harness and his sights trained on the green jacket of a Masters champion.

"I'm playing some of the best golf of my life," the two-time U.S. Open champion said before today's opening round of the 32nd Masters, the first of the world's four major golf tournaments.

"I feel very good, probably the best I've ever felt for the Masters," he said. "I think my chances are very good, excellent."

Casper fired a final practice round of 67, five under par for the Augusta National course, a course that, over the years, has given the one-time fat man nothing but trouble. He had five birdies, no bogeys.

Casper, a master putter who slumped down on an exotic diet of buffalo steaks, blueberries and bear meat, is competing in his 11th Masters. Although generally considered one of the finest players in the world, he never has been a factor here.

"It's strange," the quiet, composed Casper said. "My performance—or lack of it—in the Masters is really very strange. . . . This year I have a new formula going in. I think it's the right one. Before, I'd always taken the week off before the Masters. And I never really felt well when the tournament started."

"This year I took a week off two weeks ago, just to rest up. Then I played in Greensboro to get ready. I played very well there (he won it) and I feel the momentum is still with me."

Casper, second only to Arnold Palmer on the all-time list of money winners, was paired with young Tony Jacklin of England for the first round and, surprisingly, was one of the favorites.

Jack Nicklaus, gunning for his fourth Masters title, was the top choice, with Casper, four-time winner Palmer and young Tom Weiskopf, the year's leading money-winner, in the next group.

Just Wants to Fill His Own Shoes

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dave Johnson isn't expected to fill shortstop Mark Belanger's shoes, but it would be nice if he could fill his own.

Johnson gave a solemn demonstration Wednesday when he replaced Belanger, the slick fielder who is on National Guard duty because of recent civil disorders.

Johnson was shifted from his normal second base spot for Baltimore's American League opener against the Oakland Athletics.

Thrown off stride when his left shoe started to come off, Johnson retreated after missing first base and ran a potential second-inning double into a single.

In the fourth, Johnson ran out of the left shoe on the way to second with a run-scoring double.

"After that, I changed shoes," Johnson said, "but it really didn't matter. On my last time up, I struck out."

Razorbacks Working on Offensive

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks worked for two hours in a slow but hard offensive drill in spring football practice here Wednesday.

Coach Frank Broyles said the Razorbacks probably would have their first scrimmage today after viewing films of Wednesday's session.

Offensive linemen practiced pass defense while quarterback John Eichler, Bill Montgomery, Dan Reed, Gordon Norwood and Neil Dempsey worked on dropping into passing pockets.

Eichler and Montgomery directed the passing attack a shade more than the other quarterbacks while halfback Russell Cody drew the load on what few ground plays were run.

Broyles said the drill was slow because of changes in the snap count and number systems. He also said, "We'll add and learn a few things as they go along."

Dakota Team Defeated by Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Freddy Washington slammed a double for one run and later scored the winning run as Arkansas defeated Yankton, South Dakota, 4-3 in baseball here Wednesday.

Arkansas scored two runs in the first for the lead that held until the sixth when Yankton scored after the Razorbacks tried for a double play and again on a single.

Arkansas scored two in the bottom of the sixth to ice it. The Greyhounds scored the final run in the seventh on a double and a single.

The victory was the Porkers fifth straight and gave them a 6-3 season record.

HITTING HINTS

By CARL YASTRZEMSKI
Of Boston Red Sox
Written for AP Newsfeatures

One of the most important things in hitting a baseball is to learn the strike zone. When I was a youngster my dad worked with me a lot because he loved the game. The one big thing that he taught me was the strike zone.

You must stay away from pitches that are out of the strike zone. The reason for this is that bad pitches are the hardest to hit because it's tough to get good wood on them.

I always choke up on the bat to get better control of the bat. Holding the bat on the knob of the handle does not give you distance as some youngsters believe. You get just as much distance choking up on the bat.

Distance comes with timing and the quickness of your swing. You help generate bat speed with your arms and wrists.

I use a Louisville slugger that's 35 inches long and 3½ ounces in weight. It's a Ted Williams type of bat. I never vary the size or weight, at least not in the last four years.

Another thing a batter should do is follow the ball all the way, even if it's not a strike. Sometimes you can see how the ball breaks.

For youngsters I'd suggest they get a light bat, one they can control. They shouldn't try to copy anybody's stance or style. They should just take a comfortable stance.

Study the pitcher while he's pitching to other batters on your team. Keep your eye on the ball and watch the ball as soon as the pitcher releases it. You can learn a lot doing this.

You must keep yourself compact and alert. Try to let everything go at once but don't commit yourself too soon. When you move any part of your body, and that means hands or arms, you begin to lunge.

When you're not hitting well try to get your front foot to step toward the pitcher and just meet the ball squarely. Swing at it where it's pitched, but swing only at pitches that are in the strike zone.

Pork Hurler Ferrell Goes the Distance

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Freshman John Ferrell went the distance to hurl Arkansas State University past the University of North Dakota 11-2 in baseball here Wednesday to run its winning streak to six games.

The right-hander held North Dakota scoreless for four innings as his teammates pounded out five runs. Ferrell gave up only one run and it was unearned.

Freshman third baseman Stan Williams was four for four for the Indians, including three doubles. He drove in six runs and scored two himself.

Yaz Blasts Two Homers Bosox Win

By RON RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
They yawned when Carl Yastrzemski hit his first home run of the 1968 season. But they could hardly believe the second one.

The first homer for the 1967 Triple Crown winner came in the seventh inning of Boston's 7-3 opening day victory over Detroit Wednesday. It was the routine kind for Carl: over the wall and into the seats.

But in the ninth, Yaz blasted one off the centerfield wall 420 feet away and while it bounced around in the outfield, he legged out an inside-the-park homer, the first one of his life.

In other American League openers, Minnesota beat Washington 2-0, Cleveland crushed Chicago 9-0, New York edged California 1-0 and Baltimore took Oakland 3-1.

In the National League, Cincinnati beat Chicago 9-4, San Francisco edged New York 5-4, Houston nipped Pittsburgh 5-4, St. Louis squeezed past Atlanta 2-1 and Philadelphia shut out Los Angeles 2-0.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey watched happily as his Minnesota Twins beat Washington with Dean Chance hurling a four-hitter. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison hit homers for the Twins.

Sonny Siebert stopped the White Sox on just two hits while Duke Sims lead a lusty Indian hitting attack with two homers. Singles by Duane Josephson and Ken Boyer were the only hits off Siebert.

Mel Stottlemyre also turned in a fine pitching performance, setting down the Angels on four hits. The Yankees only had three themselves off George Brunet, but one of them was a homer by Frank Fernandez in the second inning.

Don Buford's two hits, one run scored and run-saving fielding play highlighted the Orioles' victory. Brooks Robinson homered for the Birds and Tom Phoebus was the winning pitcher.

Bruins Hope for Another Impossibility

The Boston Bruins hope to begin a new impossible dream tonight. The Philadelphia Flyers hope to avoid another nightmare.

The National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs continue tonight on four fronts but the St. Louis Blues and the Flyers went at it Wednesday night like there would be no tomorrow.

The Blues finally won it 3-3 on Larry Keenan's goal at 4:10 of the second sudden-death overtime period. That gave them a 2-1 lead in their best-of-7 Western Division semifinals. The teams return to the St. Louis Arena tonight for another go-round.

In the other West series, Los Angeles takes a 2-1 lead against the North Stars at Minnesota.

In the East, Boston, trailing Montreal 3-0 and facing a virtually hopeless task against the division champs, face the Canadiens again in Boston, spurred on by the baseball Red Sox "Impossible Dream" 1967 pennant against 100-to-1 odds.

In other East semifinal, the Rangers, winners of the first two games in New York, play the Black Hawks in Chicago.

Groups Move to Draft Rockefeller

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Encouraged by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's latest pronouncements of presidential availability, Republicans who want the New Yorker nominated for the White House have unleashed a new promotional effort.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky announced formation of a Rockefeller-for-President Committee and said it would include a group of political and business leaders prominent in the GOP.

He scheduled a news conference for today to announce the committee's makeup.

Even as that announcement was being drafted, a source close to Rockefeller said it's probably too late to stop the march of Richard M. Nixon toward the Republican nomination.

Morton said the movement he announced was a spontaneous draft, an effort of which Rockefeller has been advised in advance.

"He understands that it has been undertaken to persuade him to become a candidate and to persuade the Republican party, through our delegates to the national convention, to nominate him," Morton said.

J. Irwin Miller, a Columbus, Ind., businessman, is expected to be named today to head the new Rockefeller committee.

Senate Republican sources said the lineup of leaders also would include GOP Sens. James B. Pearson of Kansas and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, along with former party chairman William E. Miller, Leonard W. Hall and Meade Alcorn and businessman Walter Thayer of New York.

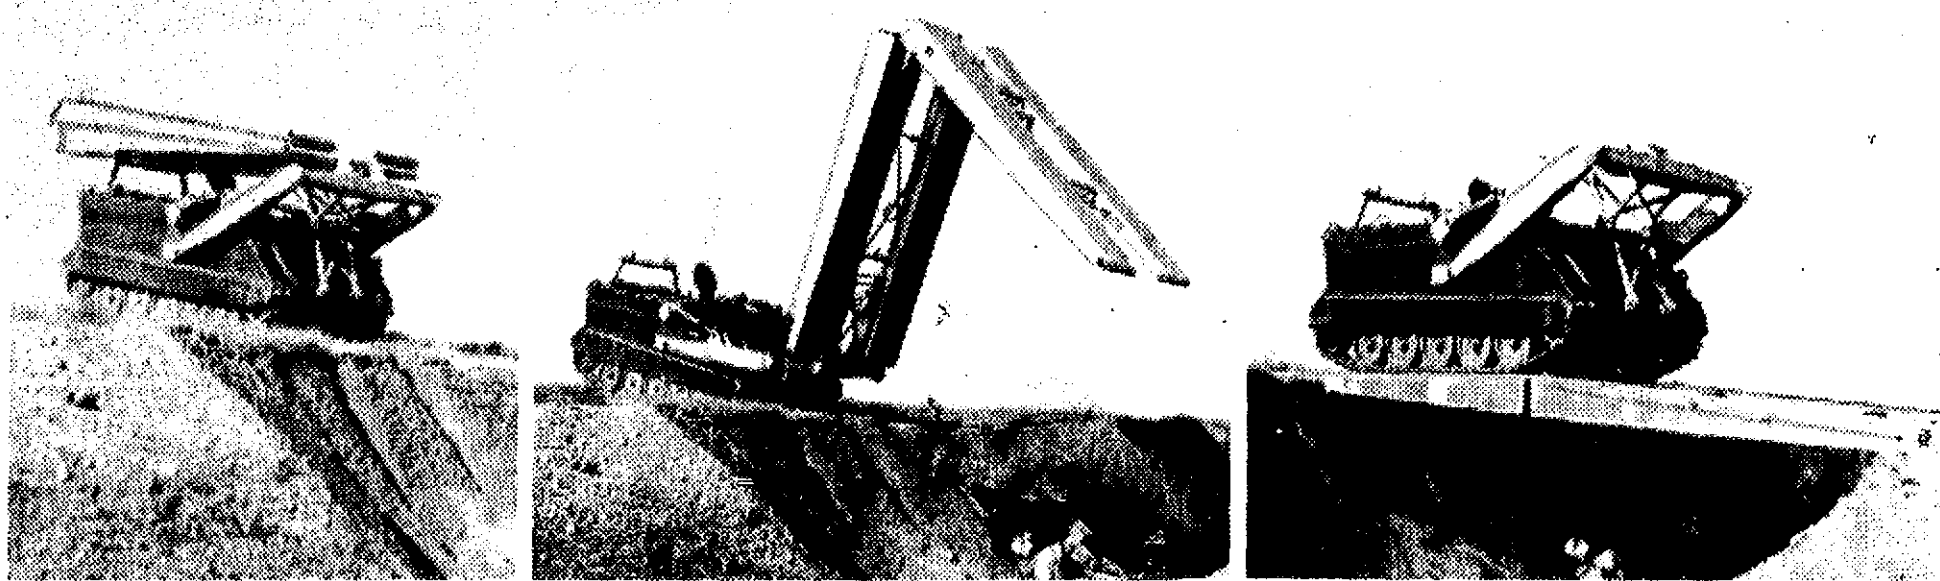

"I have said that I was available if the party wanted me," Rockefeller told a Wednesday news conference in a Senate hallway.

The New York governor used that word—available—five times in that encounter.

"Availability is the way I put it," he said. "I have not pulled out. I just never got into active candidacy."

The governor said he will speak on national issues in speeches across the country in the weeks ahead. The first will be April 19 in Washington, he said.

Hard to Keep Mind on Their Jobs

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

PLEI BONG BAO, Vietnam (AP) — In a village where the girls go topless and rice wine flows like soda pop, it's hard for an Army sergeant to keep his mind on his job.

It can be done, however, and Sgt. Gaddiel Vega Figueroa, a tough and stocky Puerto Rican veteran with a happy grin and an iron stomach, carries the burden gladly.

The career soldier, 35, is America's personal representative and general factotum in the tribal Montagnard village of Plei Bong Bao. He is doctor, lawyer, handyman and drinking companion to the villagers. He readily handles it all but admits that his enthusiasm for rice wine is luckily less pronounced than that of his hosts.

The sergeant and the tribesmen communicate in a mixture of English, Spanish, Vietnamese and the tribal dialect.

There is little in the military handbooks to cover the sergeant's job under the Army's civic action program. Nobody ever spelled out how the program could be applied among simple tribesmen uprooted from a jungle life and resettled haphazardly near the sprawling military complex dominating Pleiku in the central highlands.

A year ago Vega Figueroa was assigned to the job from the 573rd Supply and Service Company which had sort of adopted the village. He had already spent a year in Vietnam and extended his tour. Now he has extended again.

"I like the job and I like these people," the sergeant explains. "I don't want the Communists to get this village."

"I don't interfere with Vega so long as everything goes all right," says his company commander, Capt. Robert Schaller of Rumford, R.I. "He lets me know what is going on and we give him all the help we can."

In a year, the sergeant and the captain have talked the Vietnamese authorities into expanding the village's farmland, paid the wages for a teacher, built a small school, taught the villagers the rudiments of truck farming, dug wells, gave inoculations, virtually eliminated skin diseases and performed a myriad of lesser tasks.

Some money and support have come from the Army, and some from soldiers' families, like Vega's wife in Brooklyn, N.Y. Most have been from pay-day contributions clipped in by the drivers, mechanics, officers and noncoms of the 573rd Supply and Service Company.

Roberts Team Beats State

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Oral Roberts University swept all five single and double matches here Wednesday to defeat Arkansas State University 7-0 in tennis.

Doshier Seeks Re-election

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Prosecutor Bill F. Doshier, 36, of Harrison, filed Wednesday for re-election in the 14th Judicial District, which is Boone, Marion, Newton, Searcy, Van Buren and Cleburne counties.

Davis Duty, 33, of Rogers, filed as Democratic candidate for circuit judge in the new Judicial District, which is Madison, Carroll and Benton counties.

Business Is Very Bad in Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP) — The triple pressure of curfew, Negro boycott and white apprehension during the long garbage strike and the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is ruining business.

Signs in downtown store windows tell of Easter specials, but most customers aren't buying. Buses on downtown streets outnumber automobiles, and there are more clerks than shoppers.

The 60-day-old strike and its attendant violence have clamped a strangle hold on the city's business community. Some businesses will never recover.

Trade began falling off shortly after the strike began Feb. 12, but a subsequent riot and the slaying of King finished the job.

Almost daily marches by the strikers and their supporters began early to sweep shoppers off the sidewalks. Then a brief riot March 28 and King's death April 4 brought thousands of National Guardsmen to patrol the downtown area.

Negroes, claiming the strike was a battle for economic equality, called two boycotts. One against three specific firms has failed, but a general effort against all white merchants is hurting.

"In the simplest terms," said one merchant, "the white community is afraid to shop downtown, and the Negro community is boycotting us."

The downsizing in pre-Easter shopping has ranged from 20 per cent in some stores to 25 per cent in others — those closest to the Negro sector.

No one is willing to make an estimate of the dollar loss other than to say it is heavy.

The bidding of today's hand does not meet with our approval, and we doubt if anyone, including the actual players, would approve of it either. It took place in a rubber bridge game somewhere in England, and West sent his hand to Rixi Marcus to ask if he should have sacrificed at seven spades and if not what he should have led.

Later on he sent in the complete hand, and Mrs. Marcus included it in "Bid Boldly, Play Safe" as an example of how not to play safe.

We are going to agree with her conclusions which were that South's six heart opening was reasonable and that East's double was ill-advised to say the least. South's redouble was even worse. South must have realized that he had no defense against spades and that a redouble might drive his opponents to a spade save. He should have been happy to settle for six hearts doubled.

East's run-out to six spades has our full approval. He should have bid the six spades without stopping to double.

South's failure to double six spades is surprising and we rather like North's seven heart call. He was entitled to assume that his partner would not have passed with a losing spade and that his ace of diamonds would be the ace South was interested in.

As for East's double of seven hearts Mrs. Marcus said, "It was even worse than his double of six." We agree.

In West's place we would have gone to seven spades without our partner's double, but we would have trusted him enough to assume that his double showed the ace of spades and another ace, and we would have opened a spade. Our reason would be that if he did hold two aces and the spade was ruffed, his second ace would still be good, while if we guessed wrong between diamonds and clubs, any losing spades would disappear.

Instead of bidding four clubs, West doubles your three spades. Your partner redoubles and East jumps to six diamonds. What do you do?

Provisions of the Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following are the main provisions of the civil rights bill passed by the House Wednesday:

Open Housing: Makes it unlawful to discriminate in the sale or rental of housing on the basis of race, color or religion. Upon enactment, the ban would apply to housing built with the aid of federal funds, including FHA and Veteran Administration mortgages, public housing and urban renewal housing. Such housing is already covered by an executive order issued in 1962.

After Dec. 31, 1968, the law would apply to other housing, except for single-family houses if the owner doesn't own more than three houses, dwellings of four units or less if the owner occupies one of them, and housing provided by religious organizations and private clubs for members.

After Dec. 31, 1939, the single-family exemption would apply only to owners who sell or rent their houses themselves without using the services or facilities of a real estate broker. At that point it is estimated the law would cover 80 per cent of the nation's housing units.

Enforcement would be through private court action brought by the person claiming he was discriminated against, by conciliation through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, or by suits filed by the attorney general where a wide pattern of discrimination is alleged. A plaintiff proving discrimination could collect $1,000 in damages.

State laws granting the same protection would not be invalidated by the federal law.

Interference with Protected Activities: Makes it unlawful to interfere by threats or violence with anyone engaged in activities protected by the Constitution or federal law. It covers threats or violence by private persons as well as by officials. Penalties would vary according to the seriousness of the offense, up to life imprisonment in the event of death of the victim.

Antiriot: Makes it unlawful to travel in interstate commerce with the intention of inciting, organizing, or participating in a riot, or to help anyone else do so. Also makes it a crime to teach or demonstrate the use or making of firearms or explosives, or transporting such weapons, with knowledge that they will be used in a riot.

Indian Rights: Creates a Bill of Rights similar to the first 10 amendments to the Constitution for American Indians in relation to their tribes. Also permits tribes, by special elections, to determine whether they want to be placed under state criminal and civil jurisdiction.

Damaged Currency

The U.S. Treasury will redeem a damaged bill at face value if three-fifths of the original is intact. If less than three-fifths but more than two-fifths of the bill remains, it is worth half its face value.

Railway Statistics Questioned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Commerce Commission Chairman John Norman Harkey questioned Wednesday statistics presented by six railroads who have asked the commission for increases in their interstate freight rates.

Harkey asked Robert H. Lindsay, an economics and statistical expert for the Western Railroad Traffic Association and chief witness for the railroads, how the railroads arrived at a low rate of return on its investment.

Lindsay said the railroads showed a steady increase in profit from 1960 through 1965 from 3.72 per cent in 1960 to 4.68 in 1965 and that if the trend continued the railroads would not seek the increase.

Lindsay said, however, the rate fell slightly in 1966 and then sharply the first six months of 1967 to 3.63 per cent. Harkey pointed out, however, that the drop was at least partially due to a $10 million investment in the railroad's investment and that the railroad's average investment over the previous five years had been $10.5 million.

Fire Set at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Police said Wednesday a fire that was discovered early Wednesday morning at a Little Rock lumber company and extinguished before it could do any serious damage was set by a bottle soaked with kerosene found under a baring pile of lumber.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

After centuries of argument over the shape of the earth, scientists not only long ago discredited the belief that the earth is flat but have also shown that the earth is not perfectly round. The World Almanac says that the earth is flattened at both poles and therefore is not a true sphere but an oblate spheroid or ellipsoid. The polar circumference of the earth is 41.90 miles less than the equatorial circumference of 24,902.41 miles.

Decrease in Vietnam War Casualties

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. casualties in the Vietnam war decreased last week while those of South Vietnamese government forces went up.

U.S. headquarters also reported a drop in the number of enemy killed, but South Vietnamese headquarters said the number of enemy dead rose sharply. The weekly reports of enemy dead from the two commands frequently differ.

The U.S. Command said 279 Americans were killed last week and 3,190 were wounded. Of the wounded, 1,344 required hospitalization. A week earlier, the American totals were 330 killed and 3,886 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 407 government troops killed last week, 1,479 wounded and 14 missing in action. The week before the Vietnamese reported 393 men killed, 1,160 wounded and 41 missing.

The South Vietnamese command said 4,012 enemy were killed in action last week and 559 were captured. The U.S. Command reported 2,251 of the enemy were killed but said that figure was "subject to adjustment."

U.S.A.— Unite, Share, Act — stressed B&PW Club State President Ruth Purma of Rogers in a message to the Southwest District B&PW Club members who gathered in Hope Sunday, April 7 for a Spring Workshop at the Hempstead County Courthouse. A Space Theme was used for the decorations to carry out the year's topic, "All Systems Go." In her welcome address La Veta Mouser, Hope B&PW Club President, advised the members to "shoot for the stars."

Mrs. Hervey Holt gave a thought-provoking devotion, "What Is Security?" and Hope Career Girls also participated in the morning program. Accompanying herself on the guitar, Mary Ellen Holder sang "Moon River," and taking part in a skit were Jeanne Pruden, Twilla Hunt, Martha Bader, Cynthia Trout, Ellen Turner, Jenny Tolleson, Kathy Lewis, and Blitsy Morris. Workshops on a large variety of subjects were held throughout the morning. Luncheon for 96 at the Town and Country was followed by more workshops in the afternoon.

A large revolving globe at the luncheon gave emphasis to a discussion of World Affairs by Lorene May of Waldron. She emphasized, "Don't take America for granted," and she said, "B&PW Club members should learn to communicate and be involved in the club, the community, and the world."

Warns About Pre-convention Commitments

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Chairman John M. Bailey is taking the lead in a strong movement among Democratic organization members to avoid pre-convention commitments to potential presidential nominees.

If the movement spreads as indicated the Democrats could wind up in August with the kind of a wide-open convention politicians talk about but which seldom materializes.

Bailey said in a telephone interview that since President Johnson took himself out of consideration he intends to remain "absolutely neutral" in the nomination contest.

"I have a convention to run," he said, "and I am not going to take sides." Bailey indicated he expects to remain national chairman through the convention, after which the nominee usually picks his own man.

It is Bailey's stated intent to have the 41-vote Connecticut delegation, which presumably would have been behind Johnson, go to the Chicago convention uncommitted. He is state chairman as well as national chairman.

Indications are that Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey all will have strength in the delegation and it can be expected to break wide open at the convention.

Only Kennedy and McCarthy have announced as candidates but Humphrey is poised to enter the race after Easter.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., expects to lead a 130-vote Pennsylvania delegation to Chicago under an uncommitted banner. Clark, a candidate for re-election, previously had said he would support Johnson.

Clark is keeping himself neutral in a contest in which the state Democratic organization leaders can be expected to urge delegate candidates previously backing Johnson to swing to Humphrey. Delegate candidates supporting McCarthy and Kennedy are running in the April 23 Pennsylvania primary and some probably will be elected.

Not Much Point to Low-Rating Purple Martin

Jack Gardner brought me an April 4th tear-sheet from Shreveport Times with an article apparently low-rating the value to mankind of the purple martin.

It's written for the Los Angeles Times-Washington Post News Service by no less a person than Irston R. Barnes, chairman of the Audubon Naturalist Society. It's Mr. Barnes' theme that while the purple martin is a prodigious eater of bugs and other insects he lacks a lot of being a mosquito exterminator.

Other than getting his name into print I don't see that Mr. Barnes' article contributes much to the cause of either martins or humanity.

Americans got the habit of encouraging martin colonies from observing the Indians, who stretched hollowed-out gourds on vines to make homes for the martins, telling the white settlers it was good for the Indian villages because the martin preyed on bugs and other insects.

The notion that the martin concentrates on mosquitoes is something that's been promoted only recently, and it's not factual, as Mr. Barnes points out. But it was absurd ever to think that by importing a lot of martins you might do away with conventional ground campaigns against the mosquito. I have never encountered a person who believed otherwise, and so Mr. Barnes' press article is a long-winded assault against a straw man.

As he says, the martin flies by day, the mosquito by night, and the bird's effectiveness against the mosquito is therefore limited.

Actually, what Mr. Barnes is getting at is some phoney advertising coming out of Griggsville, Ill., where the Trio Manufacturing Co. promotes the sale of martin houses. J. L. Wade, Trio's president, is the man accused of manufacturing the slogan: "The purple martin eats 2,000 mosquitoes per day." It's an overstatement regarding mosquitoes—but the martin remains a prodigious eater of bugs, as Mr. Barnes concedes.

The Audubon head reports on the findings of the American Ornithologists Union's at its meeting in Toronto, Canada, Aug. 24, 1967:

In the words of the press service: "There is no evidence that purple martins eat any significant numbers of mosquitoes. Two studies of stomach contents (one in 1918 and another in 1967) showed the martins eating larger insects: Wasps, ants, and bees, 23 per cent; flies, 16 per cent; bugs, 15 per cent; dragonflies and damselflies, 15 per cent; beetles 12 per cent; and moths, 9 per cent."

Not a bad record for the purple martin.

But if you expect Mr. Martin to take over the municipal mosquito-control crew you will simply have to convert the martin to a night-flying bird.

And that, I suspect, will take some doing.

Open Housing Legislation Is Passed

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional passage of landmark open-housing legislation has won applause from civil rights leaders along with renewed demands for massive federal attacks on shabby housing and unemployment in riot-prone slums.

A 250-171 House vote Wednesday sent the White House a civil rights bill to outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of 80 per cent of the nation's housing by 1970.

President Johnson said he would sign it into law as soon as possible.

The House action followed by a day the funeral of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, whose numerous campaigns often focused on open housing.

It also came after a week of widespread racial violence following King's assassination—and it was in that atmosphere that one Southerner explained why he voted for the bill.

"I think this bill is symbolic," explained Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La. "Either we move ahead as

From Day They Take the First Step Babies Start Becoming Human

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments on modern parenthood by a pavement Plato:

As every parent knows, babies are wonderful creatures from birth until the day they take their first step. Then they start turning into human beings, and slowly glimmer fades from the most tremendous adventure on earth—parenthood.

The other evening I was talking with a group of fathers and mothers about parenthood and the discussion turned to the question: At what age are children most satisfying?

"There is no doubt about it," said one veteran, who now has several grandchildren. "Babies are at their best while you still have to burp them. When they no longer have to be burped, they go downhill rapidly. They switch characters, something like Dr. Jekyll turning into Mr. Hyde. They are no longer the same people."

I had to agree with him. There is no greater thrill in life than in taking care of the needs of a baby when it is totally dependent on you for its safety,

Draft Card Burners, Hippies Are Not True Youth Representatives

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
SILOAM SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Take a young man with musical talent.

Touch him with antipathy for hippies and draft card burners. Stir him with a desire to demonstrate that the denizens of Haight-washbury and East Village are not true representatives of American youth.

Place him on the campus of a church-oriented college where most of the students share his view that cleanliness and Godliness are still important in teen-age life.

He might come up with an idea like "The Sound Generation," the John Brown University singing group that is attracting attention in mid-America.

Such an idea came last summer to John Coates, a thin, serious-faced John Brown junior from Pinellas Park, Fla.

Coates, disturbed by the attention being given to hippies and their ilk, decided to put together a group of bright, clean, neat dressed youngsters to take before high school audiences to show them, if nothing else, that not all teen-agers are bearded, unkempt and dedicated to LSD.

When classes convened in September Coates and William Hartman of Pittsburgh, Pa., began to recruit talent and put together a repertoire strong in religious, patriotic and inspirational songs, still with the idea of reaching high school audiences on a limited scale.

For three weeks the students worked on their own, then they

24,500 More Reserves Called Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reserve call-up announced today by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford includes two Arkansas units.

They are the 978th Army Postal Unit of the Arkansas National Guard headquartered at Fort Smith and the 338th Ammunition Battalion of the Army Reserve headquartered at Little Rock.

Clifford said the reservists were being given 30 days notice for reporting to duty.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford today announced he is calling to active duty about 24,500 Army, Navy and Air Force reservists. About 10,000 will go to South Vietnam.

In his first full-dress news conference, the new defense secretary said that President Johnson intends at this time to limit U.S. forces in Vietnam to 549,500 — representing an increase of 24,500 over the present ceiling.

Clifford linked this presidential decision to limit further U.S. deployment to another major decision "to turn over the major effort grade South Vietnamese."

The new secretary, in office only six weeks, said the decision to move toward turning over the biggest part of the war effort to Vietnam has been made after months of consultations with the Vietnamese and took into account the Saigon government's decision to boost its forces by

Sharp Dip in Number of War Deaths

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The number of American troops killed in combat in Vietnam last week was the lowest in 2½ months, the U.S. Command announced today.

U.S. headquarters said 279 U.S. troops were killed in combat during the week that ended last Saturday at midnight. It was the lowest toll since the start of the Viet Cong's big lunar new year offensive on Jan. 29.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters said the drop reflected a lull in the fighting that has been developing for the past month. However, the number of U.S. wounded last week totaled 3,190, only 696 less than the week before, and the South Vietnamese command said its dead increased, from 393 the week before to 407 last week.

Enemy casualties also were considerable, although the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands could not agree on the figure. The Americans reported 2,251 enemy killed last week, the South Vietnamese reported 4,012. The reports of enemy dead from the two commands frequently differ, but usually not by that much.

Military spokesmen said government troops had been very active, particularly in the Mekong Delta below Saigon, and had engaged the enemy in a number of small skirmishes.

One explanation for the higher number of American wounded was that despite the absence of major ground fighting, the enemy continued harassing attacks by artillery, rockets and mortars. Such attacks usually result in a high number of wounded from flying shrapnel.

In a special casualty report,

Scattered Incidents in Race Violence But Death Toll Now 39

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five Negroes died during a second night of racial violence in Kansas City but elsewhere there were only scattered and sporadic incidents as the nation's troubled cities edged back toward normalcy.

The deaths raised to 39 the national toll in the wave of rioting and disorders that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. one week ago today.

All of the Kansas City victims were shot to death. Some apparently were caught in the cross-fire that flared at times between snipers and police supported by National Guardsmen.

More than 75 fires of incendiary origin were reported.

At least 20 persons, including two guardsmen, were injured, and police and guard troops battled snipers shooting from rooftop vantage points and from moving cars. Sixty persons were arrested.

Employment Reaches a Record High

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's employment rose to a record high of 75.8 million in March and unemployment declined but the jobless rate for Negroes continued at more than double the rate for white workers, the Labor Department reports.

The total number of unemployed dipped by 359,000 to 2,929,000 last month, bringing the over-all unemployment rate down from 3.7 to 3.6 per cent of the civilian labor force.

About one-fifth of the total unemployed—615,000—were non-whites, mostly Negroes, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Wednesday.

While the jobless rate for Negroes dropped three-tenths of 1 per cent to 6.9 per cent it was still more than twice the white rate of 3.2 per cent, which was down one-tenth of 1 per cent from February.

Total employment rose about 100,000 to hit the new all-time high mark, the Bureau said.

Virtually all the job gains were in trades, government and service businesses.

Weekly earnings for some 45 million workers averaged $104.43, up 38 cents from February and $4.87 above the year earlier. The average for approximately 14 million factory workers was $120.18 per week, up 70 cents from February and $7.74 a week above March of 1967.

N. Vietnam Suggests Warsaw Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an official Hanoi proposal that peace talk preliminaries be held in Warsaw, Poland, a White House spokesman said today this government is pressing for "an appropriate site in neutral territory."

Presidential press secretary George Christian told reporters that the selection of a neutral site "should be achieved promptly through mutual agreement" with no effort on either side to make the site selection a propaganda matter.

This apparently represented a rejection, for the present at least, of a Hanoi proposal, first disclosed through the Russian news agency Tass.

Christian said the Tass report was "later confirmed by a message received through our embassy at Vientiane, Laos."

"The United States government has proposed a number of neutral countries as possible sites for contacts, and we have not yet had any response to this proposal," Christian said, reading carefully from a prepared script.

"On serious matters of this kind, it is important to conduct talks in a neutral atmosphere fair to both sides."

When asked to whom the statement should be attributed, Christian said to himself. Pressed again on this point, he insisted "it is my personal statement."

Beyond that, the press secretary refused to elaborate in any way upon the statement in spite of reporters' insistence that he indicate whether it represented a flat turnaround of the new North Vietnamese proposal and that he provide some definition of what a "neutral" country would be.

He did state that the neutral sites suggested by this country had all been proposed before the North Vietnamese proposal came, and that no additional George C. Wallace ...

The fiery Alabamian leaves no doubt as to what he stands for or against. Although few believe he can win the presidency on the American Independent party ticket, he has gathered a surprising amount of support from conservatives and could left-handedly contribute to the re-election of Lyndon Johnson. Alan Rains' Special Potato Salad

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

We have a tall and massive friend in Virginia who brags easily about many things. His name is Alan Rains and he is president of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. One of his most outstanding boasts is about his potato salad, which he, personally, makes every springtime when new potatoes come to market. Although the peak of the new potato season is in May and June, there are plenty of these bright-skinned little new potatoes around now. So let us take our chances and try to make a dish as good as Alan's fabulous potato salad.

Potato salad with zest of spring.

ALAN RAIN'S POTATO SALAD
3 pounds new potatoes
1 clove garlic, split
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 cup chopped scallions
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Juice of 1 lemon (about 1/4 cup)
1 cup mayonnaise
Wash potatoes. Cook covered, in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender; drain, if necessary. While potatoes are cooking, rub a wooden bowl with garlic. Combine celery, scallions, salt and pepper in wooden bowl. Let stand at room temperature. Pare potatoes as soon as they can be handled. Cut in half lengthwise, then crosswise into 1/4-inch slices into another bowl. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Toss lightly and chill. About 1 hour before serving, transfer potatoes to wooden bowl. Spoon mayonnaise evenly over potatoes. Toss lightly. If desired, garnish with hard-cooked eggs. Six to 8 servings.

Fresh Asparagus Greet Easter

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Easter Sunday is April 14. That's about the time fresh asparagus is at its peak. You will still be able to get it at your market through June. But its peak availability is from April through May.

For the family Easter dinner, or dinner at your favorite restaurant, fresh asparagus, either as a vegetable or as a salad, belongs in the seasonal picture. Its beautiful unique flavor teams well with ham, turkey, roast beef, with any meat you prefer.

Fresh asparagus for Easter.

SPRING ASPARAGUS
Wash 3 pounds asparagus. Break off each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Cook asparagus, covered, in a small amount of boiling water until tender. Drain, if necessary. Serve with one of the following sauces. Makes 6 servings.

GOLDEN GLOW SAUCE
Melt 1/4-pound butter. Stir in 1 tablespoon chopped chives and 1 hard-cooked egg, coarsely chopped. Makes about 3/4-cup.

LEMONT PARSLEY BUTTER SAUCE
Melt 1/4-pound butter. Stir in 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Makes about 3/4-cup.

DOUBLE CHEESE SAUCE
1 teaspoon fresh minced onion
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese

Saute onion in butter until golden; blend in flour. Stir in milk, salt and Worcestershire sauce. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Add cheeses; stir until melted. Heat just to serving temperature, stirring constantly. Makes about 1 cup.

So Golden Good

Rowan, Martin Find Success a Laughing Matter

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — There is nothing like a little success. Dan Rowan and Dick Martin and their Laugh-In on NBC, are finding that out. The show is a hit—deservedly so—and that hitness is rubbing off on everybody connected with the program.

Rowan and Martin themselves feel it. And all the rest of the large cast feel it, too. Typical are Judy Carne and Gary Owens.

Dan and Dick wonder sometimes about the phenomenon of success. All of a sudden, they are tremendous stars. Yet they are veterans of show business and were far from failures.

"We're not overnight successes as some people think," Dan says. "We've been together 15 years, and for the last two years—since we did that Dean Martin summer replacement show—we've been doing very well. But this show has really boomed us."

Judy Carne has been the star of her own television series—last season's Love On a Rooftop—and featured in two others, Fair Exchange and The Baileys of Balboa. But it took a raging hit like Laugh-In to make the public Carne-conscious.

"I was the star of Love On a Rooftop," Judy says, "but when it was all over, I couldn't have been deader. But this show, even though it is overcast, has made me important in this town."

Gary Owens, who does the funny announcer bits, has long been a financial success. He's one of Los Angeles' best-known disc jockies and radio comedies, and he's been the off-camera announcer on Bewitched for four years. He's also the voice of countless animated cartoon characters.

"But on Laugh-In," he says, "for the first time I'm on camera. Now I'm getting recognition—stopped on the street, the whole bit. It may open up a new life for me. I've had opportunities before, but I was always too chicken to give up the security of my radio show. But perhaps now I may do something on my own, something in the Steve Allen direction."

The inspiration for the show has been credited to producer George Schlatter and to Rowan and Martin. But the two comedians say its belongs exclusively to neither, that it sprung from all three of them, and is a result of a merging of ideas.

Whoever dreamed it up, it works like a charm. And there's no doubt the public loves it, and loves everyone connected with it. One feature that makes the show is its willingness to poke fun at hitherto sacred cows.

"We don't think anything is sacred," Dick says, "and we feel we can kid anything—except a national tragedy."

"Politics will be big with us next fall," Dan says. "But we'll have to go carefully to avoid an equal-time hang-up."

They feel strongly that kidding sex is within their bailiwick, and that there's nothing wrong with it. They're full of statistics to back up their viewpoint—Dan cites Danish figures, where sex crimes went down 58 per cent, he says, when pornography became legal.

Judy and Gary don't worry about the philosophy of the show, merely its execution. Judy's "Sock-it-to-me" spot has become so big she's recording a "Sock-It-To-Me" song. Gary is recording, too, a comedy album spoofing "Bonnie and Clyde."

Judy thinks this is the break she's been waiting for.

"Now I have a future," she says. "There's a big hole where there is nobody—the kook who can sing and dance. Shirley MacLaine is getting old and nobody is coming up, except me."

She is worried about only one thing—those "body credits" she does, in the bikini. She says she feels a little uncomfortable doing them.

"I have good legs," she says, "but I'm really not the bikini type up here."

Bombs Just Signaled Real Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The boom of the first American bomb on North Vietnam in August 1964 signaled the mushrooming troubles at home and abroad that finally drove Lyndon B. Johnson out of the political arena.

One way or another the divisions within the nation, which the President gave as the reason for his decision not to run again, represent swelling reverberations from that blast.

The list is nearly endless—accusations of fraud following the administration's stated reasons for the first bombing, complaints of a credibility gap in administration reports of war progress and prospects, immorality charges over U.S. participation in the war, trouble in the streets and protests that war money should be used instead to solve problems at home.

The first bombs fell on Communist shore installations in retaliation for a reported attack by North Vietnamese torpedo boats on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The national split showed up — just a small crack initially — in the first event that followed. That was Senate adoption of the Tonkin Resolution to back the President in "all necessary measures" to resist attack and deter aggression.

Only Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, opposed that measure. They argued the United States had no right to make war in Vietnam and had no national interest to serve there.

That and similar points of view have been gaining backers ever since.

But the Johnson administration has cited the Tonkin Resolution as its commission for whatever measures it felt necessary to meet the stated goal of deterrence for the Communists.

And the ballooning of the war effort on that basis has been matched, almost step by step, by the rising din of protest.

Leadership in that movement has been taken over by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He shepherded the resolution through to adoption in 1964 but now contends it was never intended for the uses to which it was put.

The issue moved into the even broader forum of national politics when first Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and then Sen. Robert F. Kennedy opened presidential drives with the war their overriding platform issue.

Johnson coupled his political pull-out with a new bombing pause offer as a bid for talks, and right up to the time when the Communists made some movement toward acceptance last week, the administration was insisting there had been no sign of willingness on the other side.

Despite such contentions, the ranks of opposition continued to swell in almost precise proportion to the degree of American involvement in the war.

The time when the widening break became a chasm can almost be pinpointed as last August when U.S. forces in Vietnam went past half a million.

Glazed Ham Is an Easter Treat

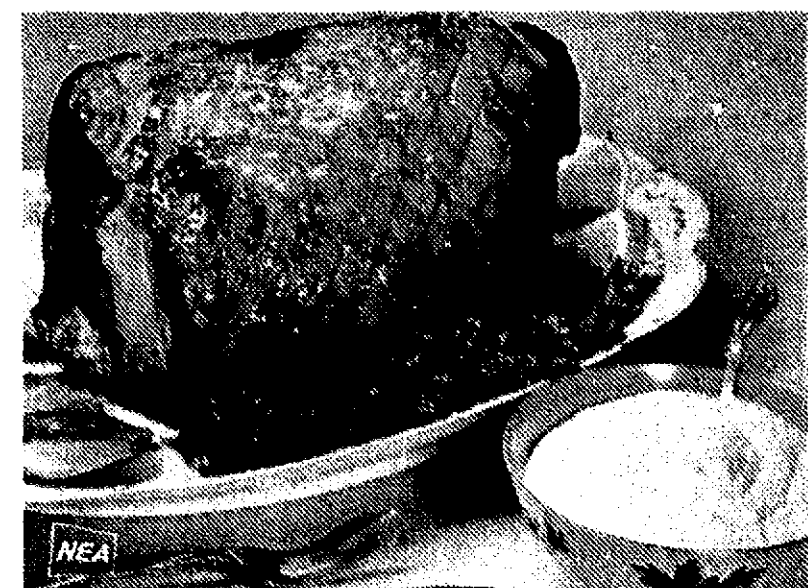

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Spring lamb is always popular for Easter. But in many parts of the country a handsome baked ham seems to be the favorite choice of many. Particularly so when ham is a bargain.

As most people today seem to prefer the ready-to-cook hams, read carefully the instructions on cooking printed on the wrapper. As to glazes, there are many. We think this one made of a light corn syrup and orange marmalade particularly pleasant.

Mustard with ham, of course. But for a change, try this fluffy mustard sauce made with whipped cream, mayonnaise, Tabasco and as much prepared mustard as your taste indicates. But keep it relatively strong. It's mustard sauce basically, remember.

There Is Magic in Communications

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Bequeathing Your Body

Since time immemorial, men have been making bequests of their money or other worldly possessions. But suddenly, just within the past few years, a new kind of bequest has come into being.

Today a person can bequeath not only his wealth but also various parts of his own body. This has become possible because of a series of scientific breakthroughs. Doctors are now able to transplant from the dead to the living, everything from eyes to kidneys, from skin to bones.

One result of this development has been to focus attention on the unusual legal problems that are involved.

Offhand it might seem that it

$46.15 cash bond.

CIVIL DOCKET

should be just as easy, legally, to donate one's body after death as to donate one's blood during life.

But there is a stumbling block. In matters of burial, the law has traditionally given consideration not only to the wishes of the deceased but also to the wishes of his surviving family. And even though the deceased may have wanted to donate all or part of his body, the widow or other relatives might well feel differently about it.

In many states, relatives do have a legal right to say no. The doctor who defies them, removing organs or tissue without their consent, may be exposing himself to a damage suit—and perhaps criminal liability too, for tampering with a dead body.

Even if the rights of relatives are in doubt, the mere delay caused by a dispute may make the whole question academic. For the transplantation of most bodily parts must be done swiftly, within minutes of death, to be successful.

To clear away these difficulties, a special committee has gone to work under the auspices of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. It is drawing up a model statute, to be recommended for adoption by the various state legislatures.

The committee is seeking to insure, to every person willing to be a donor, that his wishes will be carried out. It is seeking to devise a modern mechanism for a new kind of gift—and to transplant it into the body of the law.

PICTUREPHONE PAIR—Southwestern Bell Science Demonstrator Curt Johnston pretends to talk to his wife over a simulated Touch-Tone Picturephone set as part of his new program, "The Magic of Communications."

Is there any magic about the telephone?

The Lions Club and the Hope Junior High students in Hope will find out what effects magic has had on the telephone system when Curt Johnston, science demonstrator of Southwestern Bell in Arkansas, presents his all-new show, "The Magic of Communications," at the Town & Country Restaurant April 15 at 12 noon for the Lions Club and April 17 at 2:30 p.m. at the Hope High School Auditorium for the Junior High school students.

While neither Harry Houdini nor the Great Blackstone ever produced anything for the Bell Telephone Laboratories, their touches will be present in Johnston's show.

With the help of magic tricks, humor, and electronic equipment, Johnston will demonstrate how the different kinds of telephones, their colors, and working parts and principles have been researched and developed through the years by Bell scientists and engineers, always working with the customer in mind.

Johnston, a graduate of the University of Arkansas, has been demonstrating new communications developments for Southwestern Bell for several years and all over the state. Though he knows his business, the new show has taxed his abilities.

"This year I had to become a magician—something I had never even tried before," said Johnston. "It's no easy trick, either—completely different from anything I've ever done in my previous shows—and it required weeks of practice."

Johnston will show how thorough research, careful planning and hard work—all aimed at improved service for telephone users—have contributed to nearly every phase of telecommunications progress and expansion.

"There's nothing magic about Southwestern Bell and the Bell System, but the wonders of communications lend themselves very well to magic demonstrations," said Johnston.

The program was arranged for the groups by Manager Joe Mahan of Southwestern Bell.

3 Women Rob a Bank, Maybe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three women—or were they?—robbed a Bank of America branch in Highland Park of $3,713.

After talking with clerks, police said at least two of the bandits were men in women's clothing and heavy makeup.

The women who covered the getaway from the lobby Tuesday apparently was the real thing, investigators said.

Arkansas Representatives Seeking Re-election

He's Another Texan Loyal to Johnson

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Marvin Watson, a quiet, economy-minded businessman and politician with a cherubic smile, is the latest in a string of loyal Texans tapped for Cabinet duty by President Johnson.

The 43-year-old presidential appointments secretary, who comes from the little sawmill village of Oakhurst, Tex., was nominated Wednesday by Johnson to be the nation's new postmaster general, subject to Senate confirmation.

He would succeed Lawrence F. O'Brien, who resigned earlier in the day.

For the past two years, Watson, a former executive assistant to the president of Lone Star Steel Co., in Dallas, has held the influential White House job of helping to decide who gets to talk with Johnson.

Other native Texans in the Cabinet include Secretary of Commerce C. R. Smith and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

For a President who demands a secrecy, Watson was a perfect aide. He rarely would discuss anything about his chief's operations and masked his own reactions with an innocent smile.

One of the few times during his service on Johnson's inner-circle staff that Watson surfaced publicly was when he launched a check on White House telephone calls.

Some staff members and newsmen thought he might be checking on them. But Watson said he was only conducting a survey of the White House switchboard to effect some efficiencies and economies.

Although he has never run for public life, Watson has been active in Democratic politics since the early 1950s, when he became Chamber of Commerce manager, city secretary and city judge in Daingerfield, Tex.

A Marine veteran of World War II, he came out of service to work his way through Baylor University by selling coveralls and arranging dances. He earned a masters degree in economics there, taught in the economics department for two terms and spent nine months selling hearing aids in San Antonio before taking the Chamber of Commerce job.

By 1958, he had come up through the ranks to membership on the Texas State Democratic Executive Committee and became its chairman in 1964.

Watson is married to the former Marion Baugh, and they have three children: Winston, a 21-year-old University of Maryland student; Kimberly, 17, who attends Mount Vernon Seminary, and 4-year-old William Marvin Watson III.

Patrol Finds Many Bodies of Enemy

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. government sources say American military patrols probing out from the once-besieged Khe Sanh base have found more than 800 North Vietnamese bodies, most of them unburied.

The sources cited this as an indicator of how badly the Communist troops who once surrounded the outpost suffered from U.S. artillery and air bombing.

They said the 829 bodies found since April 1 represent a preliminary count and that they expect a much higher total after U.S. forces comb the mountainous area.

Many bodies were in mass graves but most were unburied.

This was interpreted by the government sources as a sign the Communists suffered a command breakdown and possibly morale problems toward the end of the more than two-month siege, which was lifted last week.

Military officials disputed the view, expressed in some diplomatic quarters, that the North Vietnamese voluntarily lifted the siege to emphasize Hanoi's willingness to talk peace.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

If this life be not a real fight, in which something is eternally gained for the universe by success, it is no better than a game of private theatricals from which one may withdraw at will.

Woman Dies in Tractor Accident

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Mae Farley, 61, of Jonesboro, died Wednesday of injuries suffered when a tractor she was riding on overturned Tuesday on a country road about four miles north of here.

Officers said the tractor was being towed and when it overturned, it pinned her underneath.

Five Negroes Are Killed in Kansas City

By LEO MARKS
Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — A second straight night of racial violence left Kansas City's Negro East Side with a toll of five dead, at least 20 wounded and the rubble of more than 75 fires of incendiary origin today.

All of the dead were Negroes. They were shot to death, some victims of the intense crossfire that flared at times between Negro snipers and police supported by National Guardsmen.

Another Negro was slain in Tuesday night's initial outbreak. Two guardsmen suffered gunshot wounds, neither serious. A fireman was wounded in the abdomen and underwent surgery. There were more than 60 arrests.

Most of the fires were out by dawn. Some were allowed to burn because of sniper fire. Firemen were pinned down at three locations during the night.

The violence resumed around midnight Wednesday after a day of uneasy calm. During the peak of violence police sealed off an area from 27th to 34th streets between Prospect and Benton, about 24 square blocks.

Snipers challenged police and guardsmen from rooftops and cars, shooting and running or driving from vantage point to vantage point. The snipers were countered with tear gas and by strike forces of police rifle squads and supporting guardsmen. Other police officers served as rooftop spotters for their riflemen below.

At one point in the heat of the battle National Guardsmen requested and received more ammunition. An additional guard force patrolled a perimeter of 24 blocks by 16 blocks around the devastated section. State highway patrolmen supplemented depleted police units elsewhere in the city.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes ordered 700 members of a military battalion from central and eastern Missouri to Kansas City, bringing guardsmen on emergency duty here to approximately 3,000.

The governor looked over the situation himself Wednesday night, and said there was no need for federal troops at this time. "We can say the troops we have here along with the highway patrol and police are doing a job everybody can be proud of," he told newsmen.

A force of 40 guardsmen in an armored car rescued two ambulance drivers pinned under their vehicle by sniper fire while they were on an emergency call to pick up wounded civilians.

An area-wide curfew until 6 a.m. today was invoked on both sides of the Missouri-Kansas state line. A unit of 64 Kansas National Guardsmen was stationed at principal intersections of Johnson County, across the line from Kansas City. Missouri cars without legitimate business in Kansas were turned back.

Public schools in Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., began their Easter vacations a day early today because of the riots. Parochial schools in both cities followed suit. Classes are scheduled to resume Tuesday.

McCarthy Has Changed Way of Thinking

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two primaries and two candidates ago, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy wryly remarked that his Democratic campaign for the White House was taking "a controlled fall." He doesn't joke about it that way now.

For the Minnesota Democrat has experienced victory, has sampled the prospect that what once seemed a futile gesture could actually lead him to the presidency.

Where once he spoke of an effort to change the course of a Democratic administration on war in Vietnam, now McCarthy talks of making his party's race against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the front-running candidate for the Republican nomination.

The metamorphosis began with New Hampshire's startling primary verdict on March 12: a 42 per cent vote for McCarthy, 20 of 24 Democratic convention votes for him.

The two candidates followed, one in each direction. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., entered the race March 16, and McCarthy has been taunting him ever since as a tardy arrival.

And President Johnson stepped aside on March 31.

Then came McCarthy's April 2 Wisconsin primary landslide, a 57 per cent share of the vote.

Kennedy wasn't on the ballot there, but he will be in Indiana on May 7. And McCarthy has acknowledged the primary tests may prove more difficult to his cause.

But he insists he will wage to the end—the Democratic National Convention in Chicago—the campaign he announced on Nov. 30.

And the major shift, from an effort to focus internal Democratic debate on Vietnam policy to one designed to win the White House, already has occurred.

It was, perhaps, best signaled by McCarthy's nationwide television address from Milwaukee on April 1, delivered in his familiar low-key style.

"This effort is really no longer, if it ever was, one which was concerned simply with raising issues," McCarthy said. "It was never just an educational program, although some of the critics of my effort in the early stages suggested that that was really all that it could be."

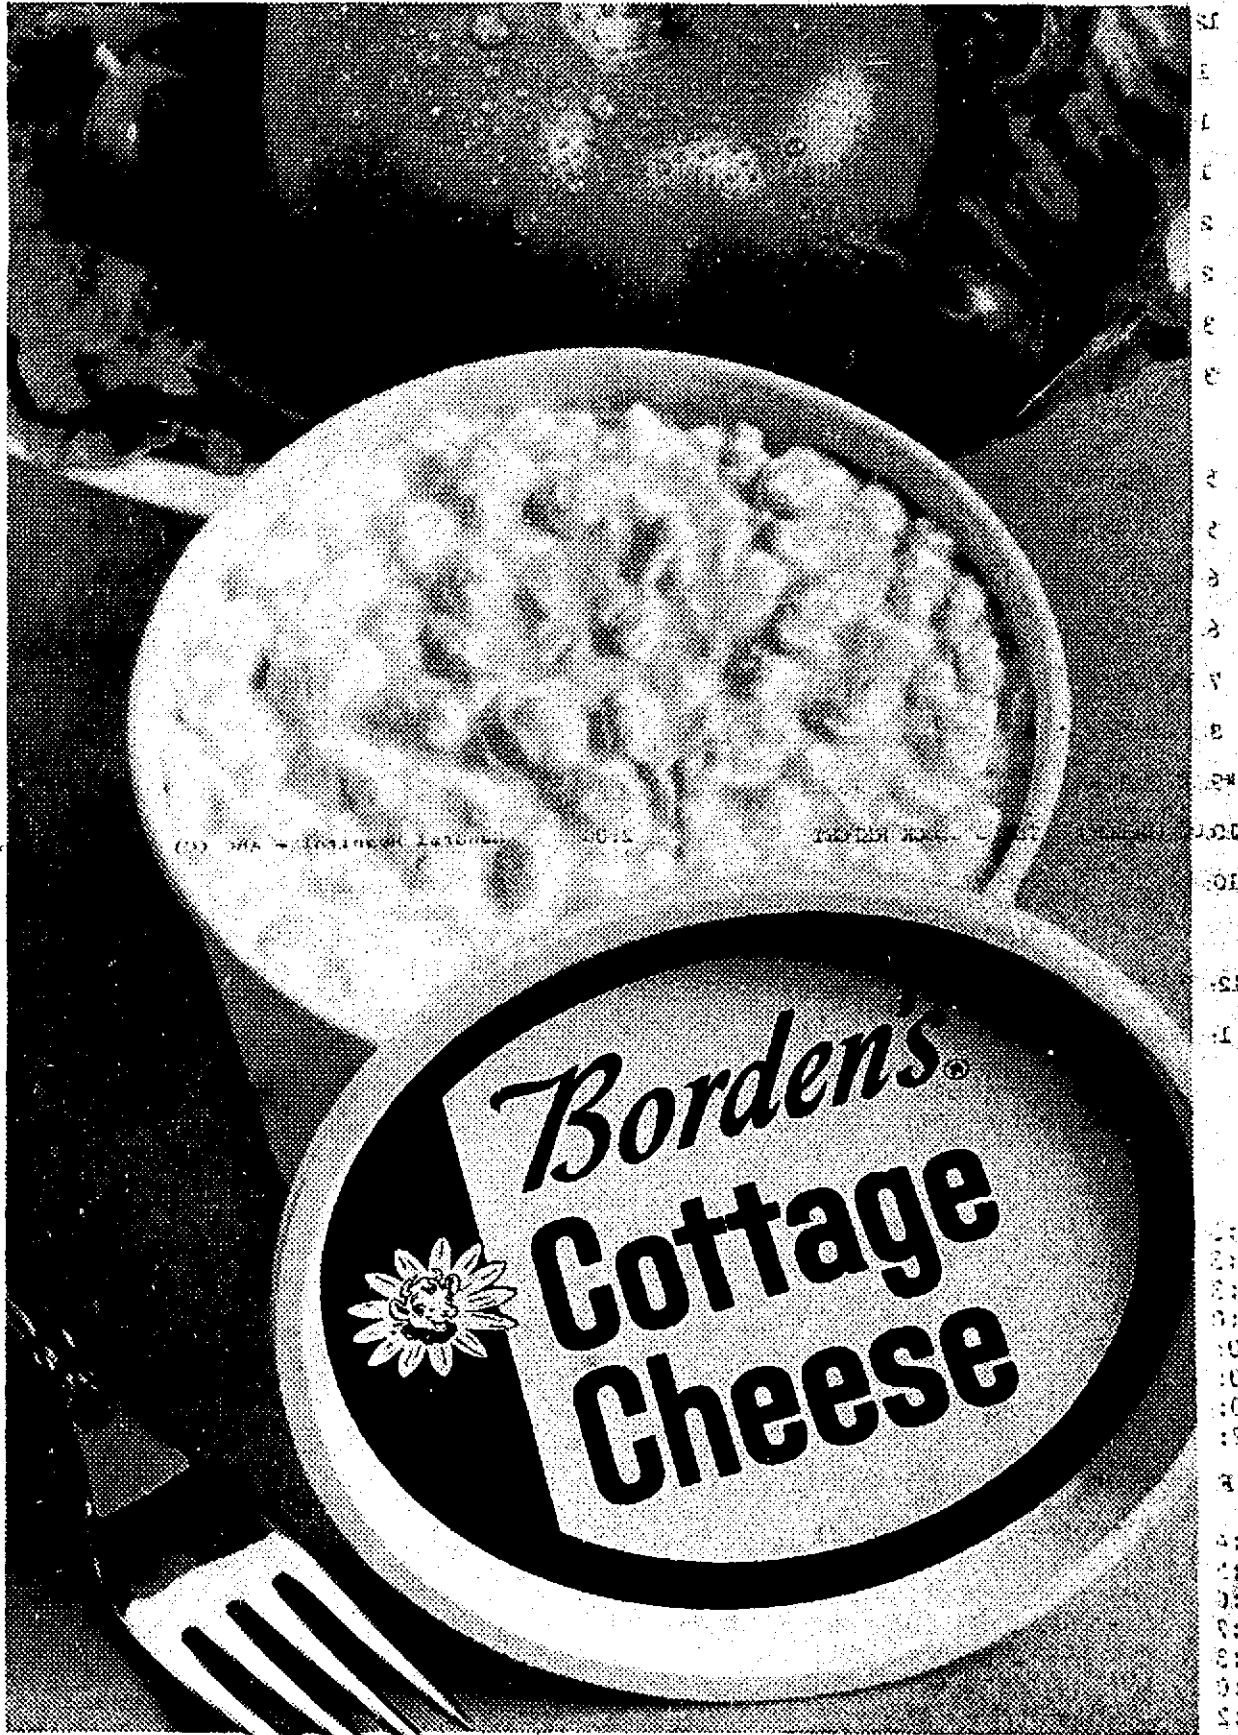

"This is my role today, this is what I am—a candidate for the nomination of the Democratic Party for the presidency of the United States of America."

This was the man who, three months earlier, had said that if Robert Kennedy would challenge Johnson "there would be no need for me to try."

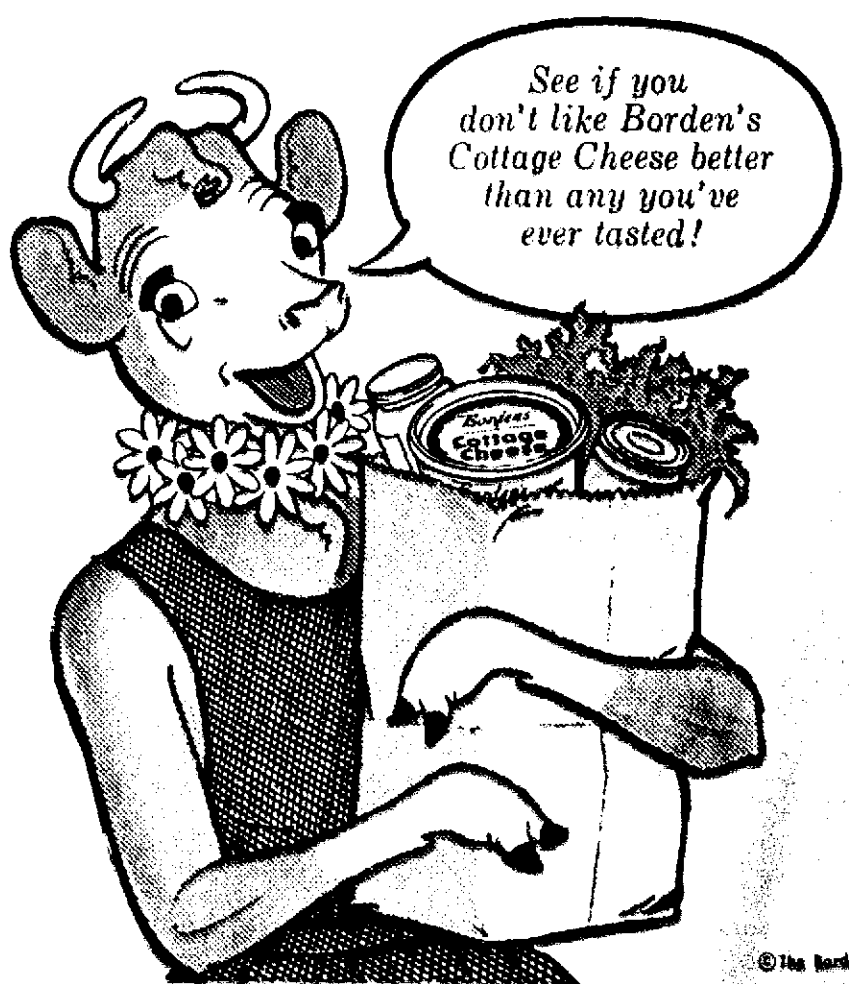

Auto Rate Hike Ruling Delayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Allan W. Horne said Wednesday he would defer his decision on a request for an increase on auto insurance rates sought by rating bureaus until he hears from an insurance rate expert the AFL-CIO hired to ask Horne to reopen hearings held in February.

The AFL-CIO objected to the size of the liability insurance raise sought by rating bureaus and hired George Shadoan of Washington, who had until Wednesday to file written views of the testimony presented at the rate hearings.

Agricultural Extension Service Plan No. 657606, available at your County Extension Office.

THREE BEDROOM HOUSE

Here is a house plan for a comfortable, three-bedroom house with two baths and medium-large rooms. It will provide your family with plenty of room for informal living in the combination kitchen-family room which opens into the carport. The carport is shown for a single unit, but the roof could easily be extended to make a double carport. With the car or cars left in the driveway, this covered area will be ideal for outdoor activities. The central conditioning system and the water heater should be located in an outside storage space for lawn equipment and other items. The formal living room may be entered from either the foyer or the family room.

The two bathrooms are designed back to back to save plumbing costs. The laundry equipment makes this location practical and most efficient. The main bathroom is compartmented to double its usefulness. The front compartment contains a wash bowl, dressing table and wheeled laundry cart, as well as two closets.

Each of the three bedrooms is of a comfortable size and has extra large closets.

If you would like to study this house plan, call or write the Hempstead County Extension Office and request Extension Plan No. 657606.

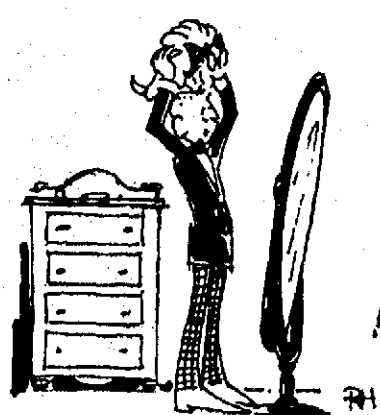

Youth Beat

Inside Fashion Story: On the "outside" of Bonnie and Clyde, Thea Van Runkle nominated for an Academy Award for her interpretation of the "Dillinger Look" of the Fay Dunaway and Warren Beatty costumes. The way she recreated the "depression look" has swept the fashion scene. The Oscar should be hers.

NEW DELINQUENCY PATTERN: Probation officers reflect new "cultural" directions. Ten years ago, youth "acted out" tensions by malicious mischief—burglary, car theft, etc. Today, narcotic and marijuana offenses are "No. 1." Theory is that Young America is "interiorizing" their personalities. The fact that the PROPORTION of persons under 18 has increased in the past 10 years relates to the "interior" theory of youthful personalities.

Patterns of girl delinquents have not changed as dramatically as boys. Running away and sex delinquency still head the list of offenses. Parents are being involved in greater numbers in court hearings and courts are placing severe parent-child conflict cases in foster homes.

Authorities of correctional institutions take a dim view of reports of the use of narcotics in/on their physical plants. Claim "convenient exaggeration." Assert that pills "are much larger contraband problem than marijuana because the latter can be easily detected."

CREW BY DAY, HIPPIE BY NIGHT: Huge wig market—for boys! Crew cut on school boys are "longies" at night. Leading manufacturer claims sales of 3,000 a week. "Best seller" is a $30 job of acetate. The $70 "stretch" version is "Beetle length" and made of human hair.

Suicide is No. 2 as cause of death among college students. Autos are No. 1. A common misconception is that young "talkers" of self-destruction are not likely to attempt it. Drugs such as amphetamines, L.S.D. and other hallucinogenic drugs break down natural inhibitions against suicide. Authorities in colleges watching the pot scene very closely.

DOUBLE BREASTED TWEED: College men are turning SHARPLY toward double breasted tweed jackets. Fashion cats "personalize" with novelty buttons. Vents are long. Collar roll is high. Flap pockets complete the scene.

LIFE FOR PUSHERS: New York state moves against persons who sell marijuana or narcotics to teens. Those convicted will receive life imprisonment if legislation now pending in Albany is approved by the state legislature.

Teen Credit Climbs: Credit cards on the rise. Major stores and gasoline companies not as leery of bad risk factor as they were two years ago. A major exception: Record clubs using "fan" type teen magazines to attract mail orders. The teen boppers are slow pay. Should not be confused with credit card buying.

"GEMS" TO REMEMBER: Empires may come and go. The U.S. may win in Vietnam or just stay on and on, but the only thing that really goes on forever is the diamond — It actually lasts forever. Then too, every diamond has already been around for millions of years.

LIGHTS UP: As seen in eye clinic of Los Angeles County General Hospital and in private homes in too many places of late—L.S.D. trippers who "turn on" under a sun lamp. They just stare into it at night by the hour in lieu of the real sun. Like L.S.D. functions in lieu of real life. Net result? Incredible eye damage — burning of the retina, blindness. One emergency treatment is to pour drops of anesthetic into the eye in order to stifle the sickening pain—that's when the trip ends.

Gun Silencers
The silencer or muffler used on guns was invented in 1908 by Hiram Maxim. In 1932, its manufacture and sale in the United States stopped with the passage of a federal act requiring all silencers to be registered with the Treasury Department.

Work Week
The 40-hour work week, which became a standard labor practice in the United States in 1938, is still rare in most other industrialized countries. Many of whom still adhere to the 48-hour work week.

A Glamorous Strawberry Pie Salutes Easter

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Although fresh strawberries nowadays are available all year round (prices change, of course), the peak season is from April through June. That's make a glamorous fresh strawberry cheese pie a natural for the Spring-Easter festivities.

Strawberries are rich in vitamin C. Served unadorned to be dipped in powdered sugar, they are always a welcome dish. Welcome, too, in many fruit cups, desserts and in jams. But for the gala Easter feast try this pie.

STRAWBERRY CHEESE PIE

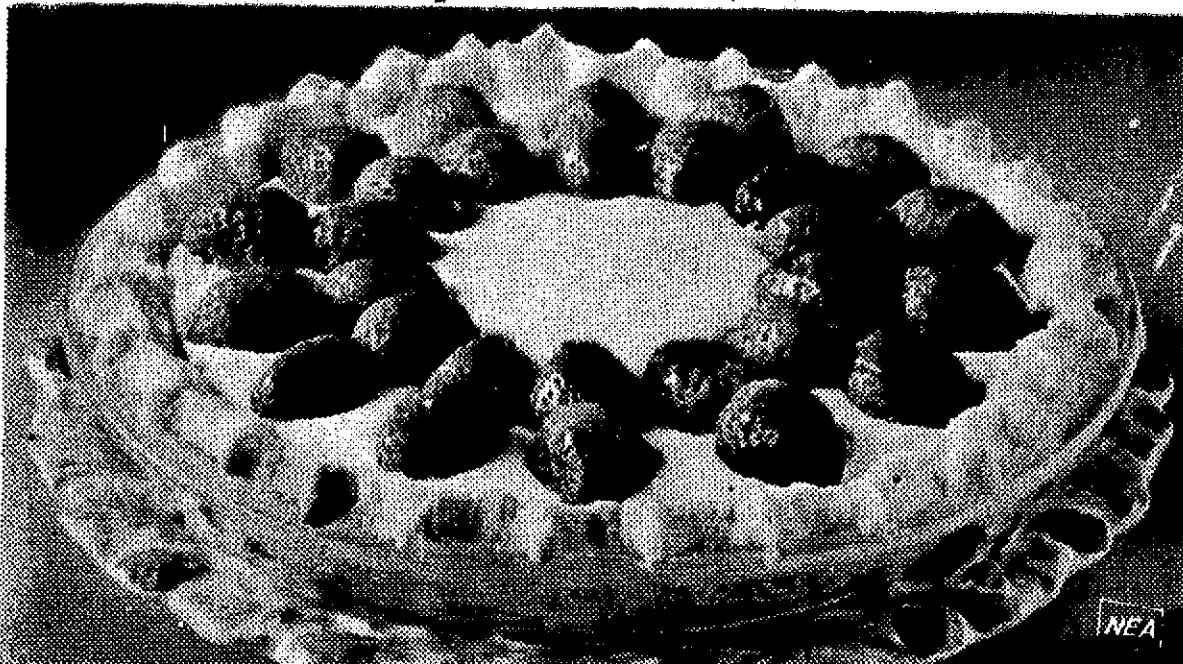

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 container (8-ounces) cottage cheese
- 1 package (8-ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 9-inch baked pastry shell
- 1 pint strawberries, washed and hulled
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans

Fresh strawberry and cheese pie for Easter.

- 1 tablespoon light corn syrup
- Softened gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over boiling water; reserve. Sieve cottage cheese into bowl. Add cream cheese; beat with electric mixer until well-blended. Gradually add milk; beat well. Mix in lemon juice, sugar salt and dissolved gelatin. Pour half of mixture into pastry shell; chill 15 minutes. Reserve half of berries for top. Slice remaining berries and arrange over cheese layer in pastry shell. Sprinkle pecans over berries. Chill about 1 hour or until set. Halve remaining berries and arrange in a double border on top. Brush berries with corn syrup. Chill until serving time. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Ground Liver Makes Easily Into Patties

Vary the weekly serving of liver by grinding, then shaping into patties which are wrapped in bacon.

This liver serving is different because of the patty shape as well as the rice and herbs which are added, explains meat expert, Reba Staggs. Cooking time for the patties is short, 10 to 15 minutes.

Any of the four varieties, beef, pork, lamb or veal liver, may be used for the recipe. Not only does liver provide first-class protein but valuable iron and other minerals and vitamins, so essential to good nutrition.

Thursday, April 11, 1968

- Liver Bacon Patties
- 1 1/2 pounds sliced liver
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 cup minced onion
- 1 1/2 cups cooked rice
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon marjoram
- 8 slices bacon
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings

Cook liver in 2 tablespoons lard or drippings until very lightly browned on each side, about 5 minutes. Grind liver. Combine ground liver, onion, rice, eggs and seasonings. Mix well. Shape into 8 patties and wrap a slice of bacon around each. Brown patties on both sides in lard or drippings. Allow 10 to 15 minutes for cooking. 6 to 8 servings.
